20 Million Miles to Earth

On its way home from Venus, a U.S. Army rocket ship crashes into the sea of Sicily leaving Colonel Calder the sole survivor...or so it seems. A sealed container is also recovered from the wreck and, when a zoologist and his granddaughter open it, the gelatinous mass inside escapes. Overnight, it grows into a horrific monster that has doubled in size. In desperation, Calder calls in the Army to help fight the monster but it will take more than man's weapons to fight the evil forces and save the world from destruction.

The Giant Claw

Global chaos erupts when an enormous bird from outer space ventures to earth and begins killing scores of innocent. Four times faster than sound, the bird is bigger than a battleship and surrounded by an invisible radar-resistant shield which repels existing destructive devices. It's a race against time for scientists Mitch MacAfee and Sally Caldwell to devise a weapon against this abominable creature before it obliterates the United States.

It Came From Beneath the Sea
