

Who Can You Trust?

Synopsis:

The Russian Specialist – 2005 – Rated R – Dolph Lundgren, Ben Cross

They took his family. Now he's out for revenge.

Action superstar Dolph Lundgren (Rocky IV, Universal Soldier) directs and stars in The Russian Specialist, an explosive and fast-paced action-thriller.

Little Nikita – 1988 – Rated PG – River Phoenix, Sidney Poitier, Richard Jenkins

Where does your loyalty lie?

Little Nikita is a cross-generation action-packed thriller of espionage and patriotism starring Lifetime Achievement Award Winner (Academy Awards® 2002) Sidney Poitier and Oscar®-nominated River Phoenix (Running on Empty).

Man on a String – 1960 – Not Rated – Ernest Borgnine, Kerwin Matthews, Colleen Dewhurst

The sensational spy story that actually happened!

Academy Award®-winner Ernest Borgnine (1955, Best Actor, Marty) gives one of his finest performances as a Russian-born movie producer (inspired by composer Boris Morros) whose background makes him an ideal counterspy for the "CBI."

A Dandy in Aspic – 1968 – Rated R – Laurence Harvey, Tom Courtenay, Mia Farrow

A double agent...ordered to kill...himself!

This stylish '60s espionage thriller (with a score by Quincy Jones) bounds between London and Berlin, following cool and inscrutable Alexander Eberlin (Laurence Harvey, The Manchurian Candidate), a British agent tasked by MI-6 with finding the double-agent in their midst.

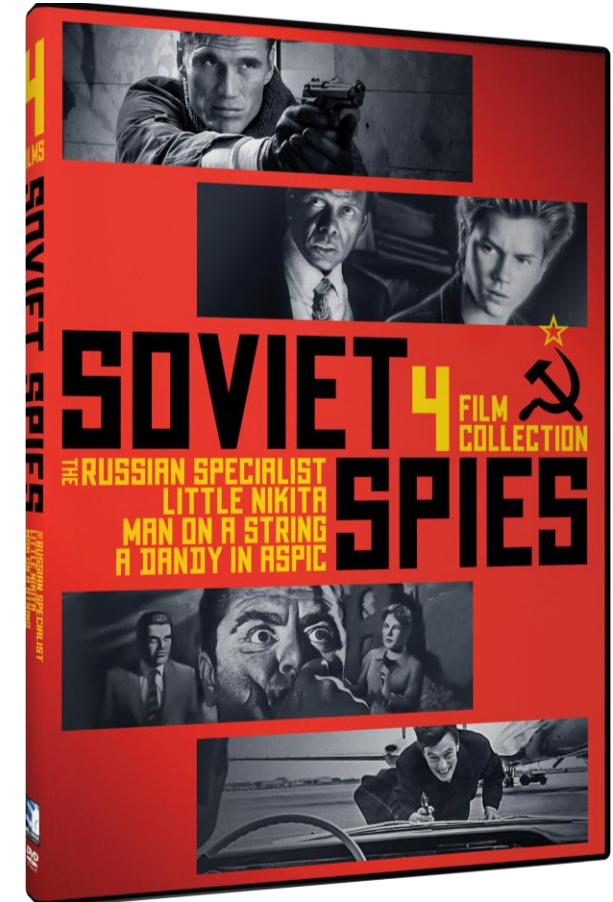

Target Audience: Men 30+ Conspiracy Theorists
