

Synopsis:

Take an exciting journey across America to learn about the national monuments and parks that pay tribute to our great country, its beauty, and history.

Beginning with the Antiquities Act of 1906, President Teddy Roosevelt created the nation's first designation to preserve - for all Americans - significant pieces of the country's ecology, geology, and to memorialize historic sites.

Featuring over 25 historic and majestic locations in this 12-part documentary series, go coast to coast from Glacier Bay National Park & Preserve in Alaska to the Canaveral National Seashore in Florida. From our most famous landmarks like the Statue of Liberty to some of our least known treasures like Bandelier National Monument in New Mexico.

Target Audience: All Ages - Travel Channel enthusiasts
