

American History Collection – Rise From Oppression

America was forged from the fires of immigration, where travelers from overseas set foot on these shores to begin a new life for themselves and their descendants. Some of these travelers did not come willingly to this land of promise. Those people who were already here when these strangers first landed did not necessarily welcome them with open arms. This collection of documentaries speaks of the struggles of all these Americans and of the efforts to bring equality and freedom to everyone!

Trail of Tears – A Native American Documentary Collection

Native Americans have experienced a history full of oppression and racism. This harrowing and compelling compilation of 4 award-winning documentary programs chronicles the struggles of the Native American culture from the forced relocation known as the Trail of Tears to the current issues faced by America's aboriginal people.

Up From Slavery – A Seven Part Documentary Series

In 1860, as the American Experiment threatened to explode into a bloody civil war, there were as many as four hundred thousand slave-owners in the United States, and almost four million slaves. But when slavery was first brought to America's shores, this war, and even the nation it tore apart, was centuries in the future. With incredibly detailed historical reenactments, expert commentary and the stories of slavery told through first-hand accounts, this is an epic struggle 400 years in the making. This is the story of the men and women who by their hands laid the foundation of what would become the most powerful nation on Earth. Join us as we rise...UP FROM SLAVERY.
